

Dissemination report

Generated on 2nd November 2015, 01:47:05 PM

Rationale

In this document, we have summarised the actions undertaken by the IEREST consortium to disseminate the project objectives, processes, results, outcomes, etc. We have tried to be as precise as possible in reporting dates, places, number of recipients, and possible outcomes; when viable, we have also included external links to additional information. What the reader will not find in this report is the almost continuous exchange of emails within and without the consortium in order to promote events, publications, pilotings, as well as to answer questions asked by potential ally partners, students, colleagues, and the general public.

13
Date of the event	19/06/2013
Place	Bologna
Description of the event	IEREST was presented and took part in the discussion in "Alma Mater for the intercultural: A dialogue among members of three European projects", an internal UNIBO event organized by the International Relations Department. The aim of the seminar was networking between three EU projects involving UNIBO as either coordinator or partner which address intercultural issues: IEREST in what concerns Erasmus student mobility; E-LOCAL for the promotion of some less widely used European languages; and PICT which addresses issues of translator training. After presenting the three projects, a discussion of the projects' perspectives on the intercultural and potential exploitation activities within UNIBO followed.

Link	http://www.magazine.unibo.it/Magazine/Notizie/2013/07/01/Lingue_e_intercultural.htm For additional info, see the IEREST website: http://ierest-project.eu/node/75
Describe the outcomes	1. The UNIBO vice-dean of the International Relationships expressed interest in knowing more about UNIBO outgoing students' answers to the IEREST questionnaire and in trying to exploit some of the IEREST outcomes (e.g., teaching activities) with UNIBO students of Engineering and Medicine. 2. AEGEE-Bologna (the local branch of the IEREST partner) and ESN-Bologna expressed their interest in helping contact students for the intercultural path.

Date of the event	05/07/2013 & 17/02/2014
Place	Bologna
Description of the event	We presented IEREST in two occasions (July 2012; February 2014) to the Management Committee of the Bologna University Linguistic Centre, composed of administrators, researchers and teachers of our institutions (Luisa Bavieri is teacher representative). On one occasion (March 2014) IEREST was presented to Monica Turci, deputy education manager of the Linguistic Centre, focusing on the potential exploitation of IEREST teaching activities in the language courses.
Describe the outcomes	The Linguistic Centre Management Committee is particularly interested in IEREST, as the teaching activities that are being produced represent an innovative product which can be integrated in the language courses targeted both at Italian students who study foreign languages and international students who study Italian as a second language. The materials can be used in the language classroom but also used as self-learning resources.

Date of the event	29/07/2013
Place	Germany
Description of the event	Irina Golubeva (Vice-President of AEDE and President of AEDE-Hungary) has published an article on IEREST in German in "Europäischen Erziehung" 1/2013 (translated by Christoph Kodron).

Describe the outcomes	Dissemination of IEREST

26
Date of the event	January 2014 - September 2015
Place	Partner institutions + Online
Description of the event	In occasion of every IEREST event (4 symposia, 1 seminar, 1 international conference) the consortium was highly committed to spread the news as much as possible to local, national, and international contacts. Most often this strategy was coordinated by Bologna, which asked specific partners to disseminate the news to specific groups, mailing lists, associations, institutions, etc.
Describe the outcomes	Especially in some occasions (the international conference, for example), we may have reached one thousand contacts.

27
Date of the event	January 2014 - May 2015
Place	Partner institutions + Online
Description of the event	When IEREST modules were approaching, the piloting partners (Bologna, Leuven, Durham, and Koper) promoted their own modules through a massive email action, in order to invite students to participate. Most often International Affairs Divisions and teachers responsible of the Erasmus exchanges were involved.
Describe the outcomes	This strategy gave alternate results. In Bologna and Leuven it succeeded and applications always (with the exception of Module 3) overtook the maximum number of students who could be accepted; in Durham and Koper, it was integrated with other strategies (e.g., personal contact with students).

Date of the event	23/01/2014
Place	Brussels
Description of the event	In the Erasmus coordinators' meeting we distributed brochures and exchanged information and ideas with representatives of EU projects.

74
Date of the event	11/05/2015
Place	Koper
Description of the event	Representatives from 18 European institutions of higher education visited the University of Primorska and were introduced to all the important activities offered to international students. As a prominent engagement by UP to promote international and intercultural communication the activities of the IEREST project were presented.
Link	For additional info, see the IEREST website: http://ierest-project.eu/node/204
Describe the outcomes	A number of participants manifested their interest in keeping contact with the project.

75
Date of the event	27/05/2015
Place	Leeds, UK
Description of the event	The highlights of the IEREST project were presented at the 2nd international conference LGW held at the Leeds Beckett University in Leeds, UK, on 27th and 28th May, 2015. The presentation titled "Tracing intercultural and interlinguistic moves within and beyond student mobility programmes: The case of the IEREST project" was delivered by Neva Čebtron, University of Primorska, Slovenia.
Link	For additional info, see the IEREST website: http://ierest-project.eu/node/200
Describe the outcomes	The IEREST presentation generated a very positive response. Many of the participants recognized the topics tackled by IEREST project as central to their own intercultural experience and were interested in the approach to teaching foreign languages, including English as a lingua franca, which goes beyond mere language teaching, but endeavours to develop learners' intercultural communication skills. New contacts led to new initiatives of cooperation in the future.

Date of the event	01/06/2015
Place	Viana do Castelo, Portugal
Description of the event	Prue Holmes presented a study based on IEREST at the Instituto Politécnico Viana do Castelo, Portugal. The title of the talk was "Mobility and interculturality: What's in it for students?".
Link	For additional info, see the IEREST website: http://ierest-project.eu/node/201
Describe the outcomes	A number of participants asked more about the project and manifested their intention to subscribe to the newsletter

77
Date of the event	15/09/2015
Place	Online + copies
Description of the event	Publication of the IEREST manual:

	IEREST (2015) Intercultural Education Resources for Erasmus Students and their Teachers , Koper: Annales University Press.
Link	The manual is downloadable from the IEREST website (http://ierest-project.eu/humbox) and Humbox page (http://humbox.ac.uk/group/19). It has been also added to the profiles of most IEREST members on Academia.edu and ResearchGate .
Describe the outcomes	It is expected that many people (researchers, teachers, students, and general public) download the manual and contribute to its diffusion.

Date of the event	15/09/2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	The IEREST members were committed in a massive information email campaign to spread the news of the publication of the IEREST final results and outputs.
Describe the outcomes	It is foreseeable that hundreds of researchers, teachers, students, and universities got the news of the approaching end of the project.

79
Date of the event	15/09/2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	The IEREST members who had a professional page either on Academia.edu or ResearchGate uploaded there the IEREST manual, in order to give it better visibility. The same strategy has been adopted throughout the project to spread the IEREST-related papers by individual members.
Link	Some examples: https://unibo.academia.edu/claudiaborghetti https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Ana_Beaven/contributions
Describe the outcomes	Numbers of downloads are available on both systems. Unfortunately, this broad dissemination strategy has the drawback that we cannot monitor how many downloads the manual gets (as it is also available on the IEREST website and the IEREST Humbox page).

80
Date of the event	15/09/2015
Place	N/A
Description of the event	Almost 200 paper copies of the IEREST manual were sent/hand given as gifts to the IEREST collaborators (http://ierest-project.eu/node/192), ally partners (http://ierest-project.eu/node/159), IEREST partners' internal stakeholders, and possible multipliers.
Describe the outcomes	When they wrote to thank us, most recipients mentioned that they were sending the link to the IEREST manual to additional people potentially interested in it; in at least two cases they stressed that they were already planning how to integrate the resources in their teaching.

Date of the event	18/09/2015
Place	Glasgow, UK
Description of the event	We have presented IEREST to Flanders Knowledge Area, which is an agency supporting the internationalisation of higher education in Flanders (Belgium) and in touch with all higher education institutions and international officers in Flanders.
Link	http://www.flandersknowledgearea.be/en/
Describe the outcomes	Flanders Knowledge Area promised to refer to IEREST in the handbook study abroad that can be consulted by all outgoing students in Flanders and the staff dealing with mobility: http://www.studeerinhetbuitenland.be/

82
Date of the event	21/09/2015
Place	Newcastle, UK
Description of the event	Basil Vassilicos gave a keynote presentation on IEREST at the first International Partners Conference at Northumbria University in Newcastle, England. After giving an overview of IEREST and sharing lessons and insights from the project, Northumbria's partner institutions were also given the opportunity to try-out a task from the Module 1 activities (for outgoing students).
Link	For additional info, see the IEREST website: http://ierest-project.eu/node/216
Describe the outcomes	The reception was warm and enthusiastic, and opportunities to share and implement IEREST will be explored through Northumbria University's extensive international partner network.

83
Date of the event	28/09/2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	Prue sent an email to the Cultnet mailing list (over 200 recipients), informing that the IEREST final outputs were been published online. This was a last of a long series of email sent to the Cultnet list: During the entire project lifespan, we used to send emails to the list at the approaching of each project milestone (events, informal initiatives, news, etc.). For events, usually this was made twice: a first email was sent to inform about the programme, a second email was then used as a reminder before the closing of the event registration.
Describe the outcomes	Possibly more manual downloads and accesses to the Humbox page.

84
Date of the event	Year 2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	Since February 2105, Ana Beaven and Claudia Borghetti have been working on the preparation of a special issue of the international journal Language and Intercultural Communication , which will be dedicated to IEREST-related topics. Throughout the process - which will be concluded in June 2016 – they have been in contact with several scholars in the field of intercultural communication and study abroad. This took place especially in two moments: (1) the publication of the call for papers, which was advertised through a number of dissemination channels (personal emails, mailing lists, IEREST website and newsletter, external websites); (2) the identification of external reviewers (overall 42 people were contacted to this purpose). In June 2016 a further step will be the announcement of the publication of the journal.

Describe the outcomes	It is difficult to say how many people heard about this special issue, also because many of them (authors and reviewers in particular) may have acted as multipliers.

Date of the event	14/10/2015
Place	Bologna
Description of the event	Claudia Borghetti was invited to informally present IEREST to the unit of the UNIBO international affairs division which works with Latin America, Africa, Middle East and Western Balkans. The aim of the meeting was envisaging possible ways of collaboration between IEREST and other international project involved in extra-EU mobility.
Describe the outcomes	For the moment, IEREST got to be known by units of the UNIBO international affairs division which were not involved in the project.

Date of the event	19/10/2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	A news about IEREST and its final products (manual, Humbox , videos, etc.) was published on the newsletter of IAIE (Intercultural Association of Intercultural Education) of October 2015.
Describe the outcomes	Possibly more manual downloads and accesses to the Humbox page.

87
Date of the event	21/10/2015
Place	Ljubljana, Slovenia
Description of the event	Claudia Borghetti (University of Bologna) and Neva Čebren (University of Primorska) will hold a seminar on "Internationalisation of the HEIs: Intercultural education across the curriculum", organized by the EHEA project carried out at the CMEPIUS (www.cmepius.si). The seminar aims at presenting innovative approaches to develop intercultural communication competence for mobile, international, and all students in higher education.
Link	http://www.cmepius.si/
Describe the outcomes	1) Participants downloaded the IEREST manual during the workshop or anticipated the intention to do so. 2) Further collaboration between IEREST and CMEPIUS are expected.

88
Date of the event	29/10/2015
Place	Online
Description of the event	Ana Beaven and John Osborne gave an interview about IEREST to KA2 project Go2B (Open Badges for informal/intercultural learning in European and global school projects for secondary education - 2015-2017)

Describe the outcomes	(1) A possible future collaboration with the project. (2) Go2B will disseminate IEREST.

89
Date of the event	29/10/2015
Place	Colle Val d'Elsa, Italy
Description of the event	Claudia Borghetti and Prue Holmes presented the IEREST resources to the annual Forum of Fondazione Intercultura at Colle Val d'Elsa, Tuscany, on the 29-31 October. 91
Date of the event	11/11/2015
Place	Godollo, Hungary
Description of the event	The IEREST project products will be introduced to the Hungarian National Agency and to Hungarian institutional Erasmus coordinators who will participate at the Annual National Erasmus meeting between 11-13 of November 2015 in Godollo, Hungary. The participants will be provided links to the IEREST activities and will be presented the IEREST Manual. Participants will be demonstrated several IEREST tasks in the form of a workshop provided by Irina Golubeva.
Describe the outcomes	Many university representatives asked Irina for further information; many also asked her to provide an IEREST workshop in their institutions.

Date of the event	21/11/2015
Place	Trento, Italy
Description of the event	Ana Beaven presented IEREST and its potentiality for language learning and teaching at the seminar "Intercultural Language Teaching/Learning", organised by TESOL Italy Local Group for Val d'Adige (Verona, Trento, and Bolzano).
Link	http://tesolitaly.org/new/event/intercultural-language-teachinglearning/
Describe the outcomes	The event reached more than 30 language teachers, and helped boost the dissemination potential in Italy.

Description of the event	Prue Holmes and Sara Ganassin (Durham University), Neva Čebren (University of Primorska), and Jan Van Maele (University of Leuven) will present IEREST at the Cultnet meeting 2015 in Beijing.
Describe the outcomes	Dissemination of IEREST beyond Europe

95
Date of the event	10/12/2015
Place	Durham
Description of the event	The IEREST partner for the School of Education at Durham University has established a partnership with the Department of Modern Languages and Cultures at Durham University, which has organised (A.Y. 2015/2016) a number of workshops based on the IEREST activities in order to prepare their students going abroad. Further developments at Durham University, e.g. collaborations between the School of Education and the Durham University Business School are also expected.
Describe the outcomes	Internal exploitation.

96
Date of the event	10/12/2015
Place	Tyumen, Russia
Description of the event	Irina Golubeva will present IEREST at the "National Forum for Young Leaders of International Education". The Forum is organized jointly by the Ministry of Education of Russia and Tyumen State University and is the first-ever forum in Russia dedicated solely to the concept of student internationalization. This Forum will specifically examine how the integration of domestic and international students can aid this concept. Attendees will include: Russian and international students from internationally-focused clubs and organisations; young representatives of university student affairs and international offices; young professionals from government agencies involved in international education and youth work. Participants will benchmark their experiences in administering intercultural education projects against successful working examples and will develop cooperation with youth leaders and organisations working in the field of internationalization.

Describe the outcomes	Dissemination of IEREST beyond Europe

97
Date of the event	26/01/2016
Place	Paris
Description of the event	Ana Beaven and Claudia Borghetti have been invited by the Université Paris-Est Créteil Val de Marne to facilitate a workshop of teacher training by adopting the IEREST materials.
