It is generally acknowledged that student mobility in the context of higher education plays a significant role in terms of academic, cultural, intercultural, linguistic and professional development, as well as personal growth.

However, contact alone is not sufficient to overcome stereotypes and develop intercultural skills.

The conference will be an opportunity to discuss innovative ideas to improve the preparation of mobile students from an intercultural point of view.

Keynote speakers:

Michael Byram, Emeritus Professor, University of Durham, UK
(video-recorded presentation)

Celeste Kinginger, Pennsylvania State University, USA

Please note that there is no participation fee; however, registration is required by June 6th on the IEREST website www.ierest-project.eu
